Matthews Front Runner In Obion Sheriff's Election

In the hotly contested Sheriff's election in Obion County, R. D. (Bobby) Matthews of South Fulton is considered by observers to be a leading candidate in this election to be held this coming Saturday.

There are six candidates in this race, all of whom have been making a spirited bid for votes. They are: J. I. Case of Union City, Bobby Matthews of South Fulton, Bill Meneses of Union City, T. C. McCullough of Obion and Bob McCowan of Union City and Theodore Spicer of Samburg.

As this is the only election to be held on this date, it is reported that the votes will be rather light, perhaps some six or seven thousand votes at the most.

Bobby Matthews in his previous race for sheriff received approximately 3000 votes, and in view of this, it is indicated that Matthews is the man to beat.

Observers report that it is difficult to predict the strength of the various other candidates, because of the number of candidates running in this election.

Matthew's own district, the 16th, which includes South Fulton, is expected to give Matthews a very heavy majority.

What this country needs is a strong, compulsory hospital confinement law for the middle-aged. Don't know why insurance companies haven't advocated it. It would extend the mortality age for men and women up to at least 85 years. Last week as I anticipated the observance of the half century mark in my life (ye gods, what have I said) I decided I needed a motor tune-up. On my own steam, I walked into Hillview Hospital, and said to Dr. Andy Nelson; "Do you have any summer rates for refurbishing antiques?" Said he: "The way you look I ought to charge you double for even taking the case." But he did. (I haven't gotten the tariff from J. D. Hales yet, but whatever it is, it's worth it.)

I walked into a quiet, comfortable and cheerful room and got horizontal and stayed that way for five days. Horizontal except for the times that I was on my back, my tummy, my side, doing gymnastics while they photographed, probed, pried and pined me with needles so many times I looked and felt like a pin cushion. But peace, it was wonderful!

With a "No Visitor's Sign" on the door... (who'd want to look at a zombie in a hospital shroud) I caught up on my reading, my thinking, my resting. You have no idea how far behind you can get on these items when you're a whirling-girly. Though it might be the concern of a little girl for her mother, Mary Jo might have summed it up when she said: "The paper said 'Stars in My Crown,' is out of the woods (financially, glory be) and mother is in the hospital (fagged out). It couldn't have happened for a nicer project.

That's not the whole truth, of course. I got to thinking that at (I've told you once) I'd lived more than two thirds of my life and I have scarcely done one-tenth of the things I'd like to do on this here man's Earth. All 'bout people are talking about trips to the moon, and here I was getting too run down to travel to Dukedom. So-o-o-o-o-o-o, since I couldn't trade the old chassis for a new model, I decided to get an overhaul of the old one for longer mileage, smoother running, a little slower speed. The face is the same... not much I can do about that.

While a-bed I contemplated. I've got a grammar school graduation coming up next year, a high school graduation the following year. Another high school graduation in 1968, a college graduation in 1969; another college graduation in 1972. Then there'll be two weddings, after the educational investments are paid... I hope not before. I just gotta be around here, that's all! The check up now, pay later plan, was designed to avoid two things... a slow walking, soft music ceremony or having people remark at any of the above-mentioned milestones... "they're wheeling in that little old Miz Westpheling."

Anyway, thanks for letting me know that a lot more people than I realize care about my life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. So, if you see me around, don't commiserate with me about my hospital confinement. I enjoyed it! What's more it was a necessity. I have lots more things I want to do before I can't eat the daisies six feet above me. I shall always subscribe to one of Bert Combs' favorite philosophies: "I'd rather be an outstanding failure than a mediocre do-nothing." Now AIN'T that a good code to live by?

Robbers Routed In Desperate, Hour-Long Gun Battle At Lynnville Store; 2 Held

Two Paducah Negroes are being held in connection with a break-in and gunfight at Lynnville last Friday morning.

They have been identified by Sheriff Dick Castleman as: Robert Cobb, 708 Terrell, Paducah.

Louis Cole, 8th & Burnett, Paducah.

They were arrested in Paducah Saturday afternoon in connection with a series of robberies in West Kentucky.

Cobb has been charged with aiding and abetting storehouse breaking and malicious shooting with intent to kill. He waived examining trial before County Judge Allen Cloar this morning and was ordered held under $2,500 bail on each of the counts. Cobb was returned to the county jail in default of bond.

Cole has been charged with storehouse breaking and malicious shooting with intent to kill. He was held in default of $5,000, and will probably be turned over to Hickman Co. or Carlisle Co. authorities this afternoon to answer charges in those counties.

State Police Detective Hugh Page said a quantity of merchandise identified as stolen from Melton's Store, Lynnville, Watson's Grocery at Burkley, and Moore's Feed Mill, near Clinton, had been recovered.

The arrests came, Page said, after Paducah City Judge Sam Carlick issued a search warrant for Cobb's home.

While sheriffs from Graves, Hickman, Carlisle and Fulton counties, along with Paducah police, were searching, Cobb and Cole arrived on the scene and were arrested.

Page said Cobb's automobile, a 1954 black Buick, showed signs of the Lynnville gun battle. He said the windshield and hood of the auto were splattered with shot.

A third person implicated in the Lynnville break-in has not been apprehended. He is believed to be wounded seriously, and neither Cobb nor Cole showed any signs of injury.

Chief Smith Resigns; Personal Differences Seen As Basis For Salary Reduction Action By Officials

Chief of Police J. W. (Duck) Smith tendered his resignation to City Manager James Robey Wednesday to become effective at the end of the working day. Smith's action came as no surprise to many Fultonians, since it became obvious that the former highway patrolman was the target for constant harassment by certain members of the Fulton City Commission. In a memorandum to the Mayor and Board of Commissioners issued at noon Wednesday Robey advised that he was appointing Glenn "Nemo" Williams, a former assistant police chief to serve in the interim period until the Commission acts to appoint a permanent department head. At the same time Robey suggested that Williams be paid $75.00 a month in addition to his present salary, making it $400 a month.

Smith's resignation is the third to be tendered to the Commission since May 15. Long time City Clerk Martha Smith resigned effective as of that date, as did Mrs. Shirley Hawks, an assistant in the City Clerk's office. The News was reliably informed this week that other resignations among top personnel at City Hall may be forthcoming; one of them a top official.

"It's impossible to do a competent job at City Hall these days," Smith told the News. "We have gotten the honor of having the lowest crime rate per capita of any city in Kentucky, but we did it the hard way," he added. "Ever since I have been chief I have tried every way I could to get a set of rules and regulations put into motion for the efficient operation of the police department."

QUOTABLE QUOTE!
When a police officer was asked if he would take the examination to be given for the position as chief of police he quickly replied: "Heck, no, I want steady work."

Under the present system the chief of police is a mere figure head. Any of the Commissioners and Mayor, if they choose to do so, can come in and counteract any order the chief may give. There is no chain of command from the department head to the patrolmen. You simply cannot do the job that needs to be done when an employee can go to a higher authority to have the chief's order counteracted or rescinded.

Smith, whose $400 a month salary has been the center of controversy at recent Commission meetings has accepted a position to manage Fulton's popular Jet Lanes Bowling Center. Employed by ordinance at $400 a month, Commissioners Bill Rice, Bob McCain and Mayor DeMyer have sought to have the salary reduced to $325 a month.

It was Commissioner Rice who prevailed upon him to leave his position as patrolman with the State Police Department, Smith told the News Wednesday. "Rice has been at odds with me since I ordered him out of City Hall for using profanity," Smith said.

Personal differences with Smith also may have contributed to the salary reduction action by the two other officials. The News was reliably informed that a relative of one of the officials was arrested for running a stop sign that resulted in an automobile accident.

Another official, seeking to prevent the employment of a city employee allegedly impugned the character of the employee. When Smith and another city employee refused to deny that the official made the derogatory statement, dismissal and other threats were made to Smith, The News was informed.

Commissioner Charles Robert Bennett expressed deep regret at Smith's resignation. "He is a man of integrity, an outstanding police officer and a popular young man. His resignation is a great loss to the City," Mr. Bennett said.

In his resignation Smith expressed no rancor for the harassment he has received concerning his responsibilities and his salary. His letter follows:

Fulton, Kentucky
July 30, 1963
To - The Mayor and Commissioners
From - J. W. Smith, Chief of Police
Subject - Resignation

Be it known that on this, 1st day of August 1963 I hereby resign from the position as Chief of Police, Fulton, Kentucky. I tender this resignation without malice, but with much humility, for I considered it an honor to serve the fine people of the City of Fulton as their Chief of Police. I think it is indicative of the character of the people of Fulton that our city has the lowest crime rate per capita of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

I would also like to acknowledge and thank Clarence Moline, Charles Robert Bennett and James Robey for their words of encouragement and support. I would also like to acknowledge the fine work of the underpaid men of the Fulton Police Department for the past year and six months.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. Smith

All Purchase Counties In Disaster Area; Grazing, Haying okayed With ASC Approval

The Department of Agriculture announced Monday it is offering grazing and haying privileges on diverted cropland in 12 Western Kentucky counties because lack of rain for nearly three months seriously damaged hay crops and pastures.

Farmers in the 12 counties can get permission to graze livestock or cut hay on conservation-reserve land and on feed-grain and wheat-stabilization diverted acres.

The counties, as listed for Representative Frank A. Stubblefield, are Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Crittenden, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, McCracken, and Marshall.

Department officials warned that farmers in each instance must obtain approval from County agriculture-stabilization and conservation committees before grazing or harvesting forage on the retired land.

Downward adjustments will be made in payments to farmers whose lands are grazed or harvested for hay.

Hobbs Painfully Hurt Friday "Graves County Night" at Amphitheatre

J. J. Hobbs, of Arlington, Ky., received painful injuries on July 26, near Cayce, when his car skidded on the wet pavement during a heavy rainstorm and went off the road, crashing into a tree.

A Hornbeak ambulance transferred him to the Clinton-Hickman County Hospital in Clinton.

Four-Year-Old Son Saves Father's Life In Near-Tragedy At Dresden

John Robert Hodges of Dresden almost lost his life Sunday evening, July 21 about 7:00 p. m. While under a 1500 pound Bush Hog Tractor mower untangling wire from the blades, the control lever for the lift gave way, dropping the mower on him. John's back and head were pinned under the mower, face down, with only two inches from the frame to the ground over his back, and about four inches over his head. He was pinned in this position with all the weight on him for one hour and twenty minutes. He was almost dead when found. It was stated that he could not have lived another ten minutes.

Credit is given to his little four-year-old son, Gay, who was with him, for saving his father's life. After about an hour, he climbed out of the dog pen where the accident occurred and ran from the A. W. Gaylord farm house to the Church of Christ, a distance of one mile. There he got Bill Walker, who lived on the farm to go to his father. Bill then cranked the tractor and raised the mower off John. It is considered most remarkable that a boy of this age had the ability to go so far for help and to contact someone who knew how to operate the tractor.

King Comfort Furniture is now in operation on the Paducah Road and has been since its purchase by Ben Gaines of Gaines Furniture plant in McKenzie. The company is presently employing 38 personnel.

Three Burned In Dresden Explosion

Two men and a boy received second and third degree burns over a large portion of their bodies last Saturday morning at 9 when a broiler, being used to steam tobacco, exploded on the Fred Stoker farm near Dresden.

Listed in critical condition at the Obion County General Hospital this morning was Carlos Hicks, 62, listed in serious condition were Fred Coleman Stoker, 41, and his son, Bobby Brooks Stoker, 13. Another son, Ronnie Stoker, had just walked out of the barn when the boiler exploded and was not injured.

According to a member of the Hicks family, the three were rolling tobacco when the accident occurred. The Stoker farm is located on the Sharon road, about two miles from Dresden.

Aside from burns, all three received lacerations from the explosion.

One entire section of the barn was blown away.

Casket, Body And Six Pallbearers "At Raising The Dead" Service

By Willis Hicks

Last week some very startling news aroused my curiosity, so I grabbed a pen and paper and arranged an interview with Evangelist James Cromwell. Rev. Cromwell has a large tent two miles north of Water Valley, Ky., on Highway 45, and has now entered into the third week of a very successful revival. However, the news that came to me made both ears listen and I determined to find out more.

I questioned Rev. Cromwell and here's the story. On Saturday night, August 3, he will preach a sermon on "Raising the Dead."

He explained that there will be a casket and six pallbearers present. I asked, "Is there going to be a body in the casket?"

Answer, "Yes." Question, "Is the body going to get up out of the casket?" Answer, "Yes." Question, "Is this body going to be dead?" Answer, "Come and see!"

Upon further questioning, I find this to be one of the most unusual services that I have ever heard of. Rev. Cromwell promises seating only to those who arrive early. Service begins at 7:30 and any arriving late may not find a seat. The large tent only holds around 2,000. All churches are invited to attend, but are urged to be early. And I personally promise this is one church service which you will remember for a long, long time.

"Is it dead?" "Come and see!"

Running Against Combs "In Absentia" Getting To Be Popular Pastime With Office Seekers

When Bert T. Combs "retires" to private life after his four-year term as Governor of Kentucky he should be able to look back on his term of office with great satisfaction and a fair amount of chuckles too. The satisfaction will result from the fact that he has justifiably earned the title of "Sir Bert The Bold," for he surely has initiated enough progressive programs to capture the envy and the admiration of many political leaders in these United States. Not all of them have been popular, but none can deny the fact that they have been courageous . . . and progressive.

His chuckles will come when he looks back to reflect that he was the "candidate in absentia" in more political races than perhaps any other person who has ever held high office in Kentucky.

It is difficult for us to enumerate the campaigns in which he has been the target of blasts from opposing factions, but it is safe to say that:

—in the First District Congressional race last year Noble Gregory lost to incumbent Frank Albert Stubblefield, campaigning not so much against the Murray druggist as he did against Bert Combs and his followers. The fact has yet to be proven that Governor Combs took any active part in the campaign at all, but Mr. Gregory has yet to be convinced that Combs was not the strategist in that campaign.

—in the ill-fated primary race between Wilson Wyatt and Harry King Lowman, the Ashland contractor gathered together a group of anti-Combs forces and went to work trying to discredit the Governor and his program. Lowman withdrew from the race because of illness. Had he gone the long mile, Bert Combs would have come in for some bitter lambasting from his former allies that included former Governor and Senator Earle C. Clements, Democratic Committeewoman Mrs. J. Murray Blue (Combs' state campaign chairwoman in the Combs-Wyatt gubernatorial campaign) and others.

—in the Senatorial race between Wyatt and Thruston Morton, Combs and his Administration came in for some sharp castigation from the Republican candidate. It remains for future historians to determine whether Combs' endorsement of Ned Breathitt for Governor prior to the Senatorial election had any bearing on Wyatt's defeat.

—in the recent gubernatorial election it was only on rare occasions that Happy Chandler and his cohorts took out after Ned Breathitt. Sometimes it was difficult to know who the real candidate was . . . Breathitt or Combs.

—comes now the general election when Breathitt and Republican candidate Louie Nunn battle it out for first place. Thus far Nunn has done nothing but criticize Combs personally, his Administration, his policies and his actions. Nunn has yet to come out with a concrete platform, but gee, he is the greatest "against" we've seen in a campaign in a long time.

Mostly he's against Combs. In the event any of Nunn's friends see this editorial we think they would serve a real purpose if they advised the Republican candidate that his opponent is Edward T. (Ned) Breathitt, a vigorous campaigner, a capable lawyer, a dedicated Kentuckian, a man with a distinguished background of public service, a man of courage, integrity and honesty, a man who campaigned circles around the most effective vote-getter of all times, Happy Chandler. Breathitt also is a young fellow whose popularity with the young voters is attributable to his being the Democratic nominee today.

Far be it from us to suggest any successful campaign ideas to candidate Nunn. It's just that we think that Governor Combs has been a bridegroom too many times without getting the bride, and enough is enough.

This triple ring ceremony is getting monotonous.

Fulton Is Getting That New Look So Vitally Needed To Compete For Industrial Procurement

Little by little, slowly but steadily, Fulton's emerging from the looks of a 75-year-old "antique" town to a new, modern, exciting community.

The latest in the "new look" department is the modern vapor street lighting program now underway and due for completion by September 1st or thereabouts . . . transforming dark, poorly-lighted streets and intersections into brightly-lighted avenues that are cheerful and modern, and indicate to the visitor that "here is a community that is proud of itself".

Here is just a casually-prepared list of things we can remember offhand:

—The old Pierce-Cequin lumberyard is now a vacant lot ready for industrial use;

—The old Grooms Pipeline building on Mears has been replaced by a nice, black-topped parking lot;

—A new Launderette is going in on West State Line across from the Big Valu supermarket, and the grapevine has it that more important commercial development is scheduled for this neighborhood;

—The Gulf station and adjoining former home of George Alley at Carr and West State Line are scheduled for demolition for a big new service station, reportedly by the Humble Oil Company;

—The old hotel and rooming house on the Tennessee side of East

State Line across from the Butts grocery has been razed;

—The former Earle Hotel is soon to come down, making room for a modern post office and postal-truck terminal;

—The Charlie Scates store will soon be moving to a new building out on former Twigg lot at the Riceville intersection;

—Old buildings of ancient vintage on upper Main Street, formerly used as warehouses by the Pepsi-Cola Company, have been razed;

—Scott's Floral shop has moved to the former Brady home at Carr and Commercial;

—Shamrock Liquors has moved to the vacant lower floor of the Legion building on Fourth and Kentucky, and across from the Coca-Cola plant the Lake Street Liquor Store and Atkins used car lot are in the middle of a major clean-up and expansion program that will change the whole looks of that corner;

—A possible major face-lifting on Fourth Street, involving the razing of an entire block for new commercial development, is in prospect;

—Wade Furniture Company has added a nice-looking second floor to their Lake Street showroom that has brightened up the whole block;

—The old Illinois Central roundhouse in Riceville was demolished this week in preparation for access to a new diesel repair shop to be established in the machine shop at the rear;

—The old hotel across from the roundhouse has been sold and will be torn down.

While not as obvious to the observer as the above, the city government of Fulton under the city manager is making rapid headway in many fields that also will mean much to the future.

STRICTLY BUSINESS by McFeatters

"He's in a bad mood — the American Management Association invited him to speak on 'Blunders in Business!'"

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, Kentucky elected a governor and other state officers favoring support of the Lincoln administration and its war effort. A few days before the election, Maj. Gen. A. E. Burnside, commander of the Union Army of the Ohio, from his headquarters at Cincinnati issued a proclamation putting Kentucky under martial law "for the purpose only of protecting the rights of loyal citizens and the freedom of election." To this was added the significant statement, "No disloyal persons shall be allowed to vote."

Federal troops were at the polling places on election day, and it was apparent that many of the officers in charge of them classified as "disloyal persons" all citizens who showed up with the intention of voting for the Democratic Party nominee for governor, 75-year-old Charles A. Wickliffe, a former governor. Indeed, at Wickliffe's own precinct at Bardstown and in the presence of the venerable statesman, a Union Army colonel from Indiana erased Wickliffe's name and said the rolls were not open to him.

Only about 85,000 votes were in the entire state. Collins' story of Kentucky estimated that 40,000 persons either were turned away when they appeared or were kept away from the voting places by military intimidation or interference or by fear of being arrested. Voting was not secret then, and in some cases men who voted the Democratic ticket were immediately arrested and charged with disloyalty.

Under these circumstances it was not astonishing that two Union Army officers, Col. Thomas E. Bramlette and Col. Richard T. Jacob, were elected governor and lieutenant governor, respectively, by majorities of about four to one. Because the word "Republican" was unpopular in Kentucky, they had run as "Union Democrats." Wickliffe and his associates were called "Peace Democrats."

Members of the legislature, chosen the same day, were nearly all supporters of the Lincoln administration. Only three counties—Boone, Carroll, and Trimble—sent to Frankfort representatives who had run in opposition to the Commonwealth's supplying more men and money to the Union war effort.

How many men Kentucky already had contributed to that side was made known in an official statement by Adj. Gen. John W. Finnell. It said there had been 41,937 Union volunteers enrolled from Kentucky. Sub-totals were given for the nine congressional districts into which the state was divided. The Eighth and Ninth districts, both in the Eastern Kentucky mountain area, led with 7,121 and 6,499, respectively. The First congressional district, in the extreme western end of the state, had the smallest number of Union volunteers, 1,154.

A Confederate cavalry force that had captured Richmond and Winchester withdrew to Estill County, pursued by the Tenth Kentucky (Union) Cavalry regiment.

THE BUSINESS OF THE DAY

It's just the way we carry through
The business of the day,
That makes and molds the character—
The things we do and say;
The way we act when we are vexed
The attitude we take;
The sort of pleasures we enjoy;
The kind of friends we make.
It's on the big events alone
That make us what we are;
And not the dizzy moments when
We're swinging on a star;
It's just the things that happen, as
Along the road we plod;
The little things determine what We're really worth to God.

BORROW FROM YOUR FRIENDS

Someone has said, "If you want your friends to remember you borrow something from them." I want to turn this around and say, if you want to remember your friends, be sure to borrow from them. Borrow faith, hope, and love. Borrow courage, humility, integrity. Borrow their Christian example of the unseen values of the soul. Borrow their confidence in the living God and their loyalty to the triumphant Christ. Then indeed yours days will be filled with strength.

—JOHN W. McKELVEY

WORKING TOGETHER

To work together is to help one another. Even hard work is lightened by the presence of someone who brings companionship, sympathy, and understanding. Working together with those you like is a pleasant adventure anywhere. It not only accomplishes greater results, but it lightens the work for all. Working with a friend is the first step toward working for a friend. In this manner great friendships ripen.

GOD Is A Good God

By Willis Hicks

The love of God is one of the greatest mysteries to carnal man. The love that God places in the hearts of His obedient people is, in itself, a miracle. Stephen had this love. When he was being stoned to death by an enraged mob of unbelievers he knelt down and prayed, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge!" Daniel rejoiced in the lion's den as he said, "My God hath sent His angel, and shut the lion's mouth."

The same love came to Jonah as he sat in the belly of the whale. Jonah renewed his vows and said, "I will pay that that I have vowed." Surely, love caused Jesus, as He hung upon the cross, to pray, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

This is the love that we must possess if we are to inherit eternal life. We are commanded to love our enemies, and from our hearts, not from mouth only. Jesus commands us to pray for those that despitefully use us. That takes love. When you have been cheated, lied to, mistreated and falsely accused, pray for your tormentor. The natural thing is to retaliate. God says forgive, vengeance is His. Anyone can become angry, but perseverance belongs to God's children. Patience and sobriety are needed in our everyday lives.

Jesus could have suddenly decided that He had taken enough from those maddened cowards. In a moment of anger He could have commanded a host of angels to war against this lost people. Instantly, the angels of God would have defended their Prince of Heaven. Without the love of God, His Holy Father, Jesus could not have prayed for the forgiveness of His murderers. Blood would have flowed down the hill at Golgotha, as the angels of God unleashed their fury upon an angry mob of people obeying the commands of Satan, God's most terrible enemy. Jesus had this love and He prayed, "Father, forgive." God spared their lives to honor His Son's prayer. God is a good God!

CHESTNUT GLADE By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Florence Palmer, who passed away July 23 at the home of her daughter Daisy in Detroit, after a few days illness. She had been in declining health for several months. Mrs. Palmer, who has lived away from this community for the past several years, was reported to eagerly look forward to receiving the weekly paper from the community so as to hear the news concerning her friends. She is survived by four daughters, Daisy, Mable and Juanita of Detroit and Marie of Florida; also three sons, Horace, Cecil and Paul of Detroit. Funeral service was at the Doug Murphy Funeral Chapel on July 26, with burial in the Mt. Moriah Cemetery.

The cattle sale at the Vascoe Simpson farm last Tuesday was attended by a large crowd, with buyers from several distant places. A total of 45 cows was sold by one o'clock. The New Hope Church sold lunch and cold drinks.

The many friends and relatives were shocked at the unexpected death of Mrs. Mack Brown in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis on July 27. Raccoons continue to eat and destroy the crops of sweet corn over this section and on the farms of J. Corbitt Rickman and Burnett Lintz, also some damage on the Buton Lassiter farm. They are roaming around each night until the crop is devoured.

Rev. James Holt filled his appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday. The revival closed on Saturday night, after fine sermons all week by Rev. L. W. Carlin. Large crowds attended, with many visitors from other churches. There were no additions, but the church was greatly revived. The pastor, Rev. Missionary From Africa To Visit South Fulton

Miss Doris Nimmo

Trekking into the African bush to teach Christianity to Africans who want to learn is a thrilling experience. Miss Doris Nimmo has had this experience. She will relate some of her experiences in Africa at the First Assembly of God Church, in South Fulton, Tenn. on Thursday, August 8th at 7:30 p. m.

Under appointment with the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God, Miss Nim-mo was principal and teacher at a day school in Monrovia, Liberia.
Three hundred twenty-five students were enrolled in the school.
In addition to her work at the school, she conducted weekly preparatory classes for Sunday school teachers in Monrovia. Other activities Miss Nimmo engaged in during her term in Africa was the promotion of a Sunday school convention, preparation of children's stories and the organizing of three new Sunday schools. She ministered in towns not previously reached by the churches. She served on the Women's Missionary Fellowship Committee, an inter-mission organization of women's leaders in Liberia.

Prior to missionary appointment, Miss Nimmo was engaged in Sunday school, vacation Bible school, and evangelistic work in various southern states. She served as director of Christian education in Central Assembly of God, Memphis, Tennessee and was dean of girls at Canyonville High School, Canyonville, Oregon.

Miss Nimmo is a graduate of Central Bible Institute, Springfield, Missouri; received a BS in elementary education at Memphis
State University, Memphis, Tennessee, and a MA in curriculum and instruction at Memphis University.

The public is cordially invited to attend this special service which begins at 7:30 p. m. Slides, curios, and native costumes will be shown.

Rev. Eugene "Pete" Morgan, pastor of the South Fulton Assembly of God Church, extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend this service.
